A telephone line is known to have a loss of 20dB. The input signal power is measured as 0.5W, and the output noise level is measured as 5μW. Using this information, calculate the output signal-to-noise ration in dB?