ليث، عمرو

Fatima: Good morning.

Ms. Miller: Good morning. How may I help you?

Fatima: My name is Fatima. I'm from Jordan and this is my first semester at this university. I am very excited about starting here, but I am worried about how I'm going to adjust to all of the differences.

Ms. Miller: Hello Fatima, my name is Ms. Miller. Don't worry, we have many international students and every September, many of them feel the same way that you feel right now. This semester, we are providing specific programs to help our international students adjust to the cultural differences between their cultures and this culture.

Fatima: Really? What a relief!

Ms. Miller: We also have many different student groups that welcome students from a wide variety of countries and cultures. That's one of our strong points.

Fatima: I'm looking forward to participating in these programs and student groups?

Ms. Miller: Just search our website for events or clubs. The information you need is just a click away.

Fatima: That sounds simple enough.

Ms. Miller: Before you know it, you will feel right at home here.

Fatima: Thanks a lot, Ms. Miller. I feel much better now.

Ms. Miller : It's my pleasure Fatima. I am here everyday during the week. Please stop by and let me know how things work out for you.

Sally's Challenge at School

Read the following story quickly and work out the problem Sally had at school.

Sally's Challenge at School

Throughout my early years at school, my teachers always seemed frustrated with me. I would always hear them say: "You forgot your homework! You don't ever complete assignments on time! You are so slow! You're such a moody child!" I still hear all of those voices in my head and they bring back very hurtful memories. Those memories remind me of how my teachers used to become upset each time I failed to answer a simple question. I used to be the subject of ridicule in class. I also can't forget how my parents were worried all the time. They were always wondering what was going on. Even my classmates used to pick on me and bully me all day long. I couldn't wait for the weekend to come so that I could hide in my house and have a break from school. Truly, they were days I wish I could forget.

One day I read an article that helped me understand. The article was about attention deficit disorder (ADD). When I was a student at school, I found it difficult to stay focused for long periods of time. Sometimes, each hour that passed felt like a day. I just couldn't listen to the teachers for more than ten minutes. I felt deep inside that I had good potential, but my problems at school were making my life miserable. When it came to school work, most of the time I felt frustrated. However, when I read that article many questions about why those things were happening to me at school were answered.

Amazingly, I made it to college, but it was very challenging. To help me reach my goals, I started making to-do lists just to get everything done without forgetting anything. It was really hard to prioritize my work because

Camping in the Wilderness

Read the following article and then circle the multiple choice questions that follow.

Camping in the Wilderness

Tina and Jennifer had taken survival classes and now they wanted to see if they could really survive on their own in the wilderness. So, one weekend, they drove to a remote part of British Columbia in Canada. In the midst of the Rocky Mountains, surrounded by forest, they were ready to put their survival skills to the test.

The first task was to find a source of drinkable water. Animals would head towards fresh water so they followed animals' tracks and sure enough they found a stream of fresh mountain water. Once they found water, they had to purify it so that they could drink it. If they boiled the water for ten minutes, it

The Future Forms and Uses

There are different ways/ forms of expressing the future. This unit will be limited to three: will+ infinitive, be going to+ infinitive and the present continuous.

Will+ infinitive can be used:

1. To make a general prediction about the future (accompanied by future expressions):

- A: What will the weather be like tomorrow?
  B: It will be rainy.
  I think it will rain.
  It will probably/ possibly rain.

- Soon every one will have his own computer.

2. To make an instant decision/ offer that points to the future:

- A: It is hot in here.
  B: I'll open the windows for you.

ليث، عمرو

3. To make a request:

- Will you help me open the window?

4. To make a promise:

- I'll do my best to help you.

5. To describe what is possible to happen in a real situation (i.e. the first conditional):

- The second exam is next week. If you study hard, you will pass.

Be going to+ infinitive can be used:

1. To make a prediction about the present on the basis of evidence or what you feel definitely will happen, but may not:

- Look! It is getting cloudy. It is going to rain.

2. To describe an intention or a plan:

- I am going to buy a new car. What do you think of a Mercedes?
- Tom and Lisa are going to get married on Sunday next week.

The Present Continuous can be used to express a future arrangement/ plan of something that you have already decided (also accompanied by future expressions):

I can't see you tomorrow morning; I am meeting my parents at the airport.

- Tom and Lisa are getting married on Sunday next week.

True or False
Adapting

Adapting

Lucas, a senior in high school, played basketball since he was a young boy. Even today, he loves basketball. Throughout the years, this sport provided him with a positive outlet for his energy. At times life can be challenging, but it's how we adapt to those challenges that often determines how rewarding our lives will be. Lucas stands as one example of a courageous young man who learned to deal with unexpected turns and make the best of his life.

One day, after playing basketball, Lucas had a routine medical checkup. Much to his amazement, his physician told him that he had a heart condition. Lucas was afraid that this condition would prevent him from playing his favourite sport. With this in mind, he told everyone, including his coach, that he was fine. He continued playing as if nothing happened. To him, heaven was playing with his teammates, defending his side of the court, and hearing the cheers from the audience. Sadly, one day, Lucas collapsed while he was winning the championship. He had a heart attack during the last minutes of the game. He survived it, but he realized that he had to accept his health condition and find alternative ways to release his energy.

ليث، عمرو

As much as he loved basketball, as a result of his heart condition, he realized that there was so much more to life. Life, he realized, was precious. Basketball is still important to him, but now he just watches games instead of playing in them. Instead of channeling his energy into playing sports, he now channels it into being a sports photographer and he is every bit as passionate about that as he was about playing.

1. Life will be more rewarding if you adapt to the challenges you face.

Grammar

Grammar Focus 1: First Conditional (if + S + V(s)(es) , S + will + V1)

(أمور واقعية)

The first conditional is used for real or possible situations. The situations will occur if a specific condition is fulfilled.

If she eats less, she will lose weight.
If Mohammad quits smoking, he will feel much better.
He will win the marathon unless he injures himself from all that exercise.
How do you form the first conditional?
Simply use the present simple in the if clause + comma + base form of the will verb in the result clause
Or

Place the result clause first and do not use a comma between clauses.
If he finishes on time, we will go to the movies.
OR

We will go to the movies if he finishes on time.

Grammar Focus 2 :Second Conditional (if + S + V2 , S + would + V1)

(أمور مستحيلة/ صعب حدوثها/ تخيلات/ إفتراضات)

Type 2 conditionals are used to express imaginary situations which are contrary to facts in the present, and therefore; are unlikely to happen in the present or future. You can use were for all persons in the if-clause.

We cal also use the structure If I were you ... to give advice.

If Clause: if + past simple (or) past continuous
Main Clause: would/could/might + present bare infinitive

For example:

- If I went to the stadium early, I could get front row seats.
- If it wasn't so late, we could go on a picnic.
- If I were you, I would buy the second edition.

Grammar Focus 3: Third Conditional (if + S + had + V3 , S + would + have + V3)

(التعلم من تجارب الماضي)

Type 3 conditionals are used to express imaginary situations which are contrary to facts in the past. They are also used to express regrets or criticism.

If Clause: if + past perfect (or) past perfect continuous
Main Clause: would/could/might + perfect bare infinitive

OR

(if + S + had been + V-ing , S + would + have + V3)

ليث، عمرو

For example:

- If we had known, we would have called him earlier.
- If he had been watching the news, he would have known about the accident.

Note :

In the first conditional the word unless is used to mean if he/she/it doesn't.

would = could = might

Interesting Facts

For centuries people have been designing, playing and organizing sports. For instance, a long time ago, ancient Egyptians played a game that was very similar to bowling. Instead of using pins and a ball, they used stones as pins and smaller stones as a ball. Similarly, the ancient Romans first played a game that was very much like the game we now know as golf. To play it, they used bent wooden sticks and a leather ball stuffed with feathers. Throughout the ages, these games became increasingly popular and more and more sports were invented.
